AGGRESSIVE MORMONISM.

Gov. Murray Thinks the Polygamous Bull should be Grappled.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Gov. Murray, of Utah, is in town. Speaking of the results following the practical application of the Edmunds bill, Murray said: "It has turned out just as I expected. Congress would not take the bull of polygamy squarely by the horns, for fear of doing the Mormons injustice, and consequently, through fear of doing wrong, it failed to do what was right. Not beyond twenty per cent. of the Mormons are polygamists, but the remaining Mormons, or monogamists, as they are called, are largely in excess of the Gentile population, and as they stand ready to do the bidding of the Mormon church, they can easily outvote the Gentiles and control the election of members to the Territorial Legislature." "Is Mormonism on the increase?" was asked. "Yes, Mormon immigration into Utah is very large and is growing. Probably the increase is in proportion of three to one of the Gentiles. They are also settling in the adjacent States and Territories. In fact, Mormonism is to-day broader, deeper and stronger than ever before. It is aggressive in every sense of the word, and must be dealt with in an aggressive manner."

THE PACIFIC COAST.

A Lost Pocket Book and a Large Reward Offered.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Charles A. Gillig, of the American Exchange, London, now visiting this Coast, lost his pocket-book containing three thousand five hundred dollars, in the Lick House where he is staying. He offers a reward of one thousand dollars for its return.

The Examiner this morning states that S. W. DeLacy, who recently sold the San Jose Times, has removed to this city and will establish another paper, Democratic in politics.

The Fever at Guaymas.

GUAYMAS, Sept. 21.—A Call's special states that the cold wave which recently swept over the city has had the immediate effect of producing more fatal results in respect to those down with the fever, although decreasing the number of new cases. The thermometer has now risen to 94 degrees.

THE OLD WORLD.

The American Consul at Canton Scores a Point.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The American Consul at Canton has maintained a conciliatory attitude and has remained aloof from the other foreign representatives. The Viceroy, appreciating this fact, has visited the Consul and assured him that prompt arrangements will be effected regarding American claims.

It is rumored that Waddington thinks of resigning the position of French Ambassador to Great Britain.

Gladstone's Visit to Denmark's Capital.

LONDON, Sept. 21—The Pall Mall Gazette says it is authorized to declare that the visit of Mr. Gladstone to Copenhagen has no political significance.

Toronto Cigar Makers Form a Union.

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—At the Cigarmakers' convention a proposal to incorporate into a national union was adopted. The anti-Chinese law was recommended to be pushed in the Dominion and money granted to enable the president to co-operate with other labor organizations in doing so.

GENERAL DISPATCHES.

Fatal Boiler Explosion in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21.—A terrific boiler explosion which occurred this afternoon in the Sligo Iron Works destroyed the building and a number of dwellings in the vicinity, also setting fire to the Lake Erie Railroad shops. Men, women and children rushed from their houses calling for their parents and friends whom they supposed either killed or wounded. A search found three killed and eleven wounded, four of the so fatally.

The War of the Railroad Men.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The war in passenger rates between Chicago and Louisville, after remaining $4.50 for two days, took a sharp turn downward this morning and at this hour, noon, are selling at $6 with a rebate of $5, over the Pan Handle and $4 with a rebate of $3 over the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago, making the actual rate to Louisville, $1.

The President's Movements.

NEWPORT, Sept. 21.—Seth Barton French, whose guest President Arthur is, gave a grand dinner this evening in honor of the President. On Tuesday next the President will assist in the laying of the corner stone of the Burnside Memorial Hall.

Massachusetts Prohibitionists.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—The Prohibition State Committee have named Charles Almy, of New Bedford, for Governor.

The Taylor Monument.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 21.—The monument erected by the State of Kentucky to the memory of General and President Zachary Taylor was dedicated to-day at the Taylor homestead.

THE IRON AGE MINE.

A Mountain of Iron in San Bernardino County.

Missouri has its iron mountain and so has San Bernardino county. A mountain of iron a few miles from Colton is one of the present surprises. The assays show that the ore yields about ninety per cent. All assays have been uniformly even, and it is presumed that the discoverers of this rich deposit of iron have a rich thing. Mr. P. F. Browne, one of the day clerks of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, is a fortunate owner in this mine. It is understood that the mine has been recently sold to a company in San Francisco for a round sum. The Iron Age mine is destined to make its mark in mining circles in the next few months.

Street Obstructions.

This city is afflicted with a most shiftless, haphazard strewing of building material along our sidewalks and crowded thoroughfares in such a manner as to unnecessarily impede travel of foot-men and vehicles. Along Spring, First and down Commercial this is conspicuously noticeable. Not only the brick are unloaded pell-mell, but the lumber, lath, lime barrels, bags of hair and refuse are scattered apparently with a view to impede rather than facilitate travel. With the street cars and immense crowd of vehicles as well as the incessant stream of pedestrians around the postoffice corner, some care should be used to economize the scanty room. There is room in the cellars or first floor to mix the piles of mortar and handle this immense volume of building material, and as the complaint is becoming so loud, something will have to be done, and that soon, to put a stop to this intolerable nuisance.

Berille, the contractor, has the contract for fitting up the farther room, on Spring street, of the Nadeau block, for Buett, Daly & Sullivan, a new Boston clothing house. They open out on the 1st of October.

ROBBINS, the celebrated Australian Electro-Magnetic Healer, after several years experience in the Australian colonies, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Denver, and several months in this city, has decided to permanently locate here, where he has performed so many wonderful cures without the aid of medicine. His rooms are crowded daily with patients anxious to get the benefit of his power over so called incurable diseases. Dr. Robbins is patronized by some of our leading citizens. He also examines diseases without explanation from the patients, free of charge, and has fitted up his Institute at considerable expense with Dr. Hoffmann & Palmer's celebrated Electro-Therapeutic Bath, which is pronounced by eminent physicians to be the greatest discovery in medical science of modern times; also other medicated baths, with the latest improvements in electrical instruments for administering Faradic, Galvanic and static electricity. aug31-3m

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1883.

THE PROPOSED GAMBLING ORDINANCE.

We have received from an alert citizen, who knows law as well as lawbreaking, and is able to detect nullification when he sees it attempted, the following caustic arraignment of the new municipal measure designed to establish a "new industry" in Los Angeles—that of gambling. We publish his letter with our indorsement, and commend this serious subject to the earnest attention of the members of the City Council and to the City Attorney, who have under consideration the startling and revolutionary proposition to legalize a thing that is denounced as a crime by State law:

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: So we are to have a new industry foisted upon us. The gambler is to have a coat of municipal whitewash, and thus baptised by municipal oil, is to be turned loose upon the community. That's right! Let us have a reign of robbery open and above board! There is a dash of stand-and-deliver about this thing that is quite refreshing. But the Council must not stop there. Give all a chance. Disband the police force and throw open the portals of the public jail. Crowd the streets with convicts, assassins and sneak-thieves, and let us hear again, as in the good old past, the snap of the revolver and the curses that flow from the brothel. It will make things lively—very lively. It will bring us a big immigration from the slums of San Francisco and the camps of Arizona. Let blear-eyed ruffianism stalk along our streets, so that the wives and daughters of the citizens shall not go abroad, and in order that the rising youth may learn the mystery of the game and the grander mystery that is revealed to the suicide or victim of some midnight brawl.

What matter that it is a measure that aims to override State laws? What matter that respectable immigration will avoid this city as it would the stronghold of pestilence? What matter that the tax-payer rebels against the measure? It is policy. The gambler is a voter, and a power in politics if you turn him loose. His retinue of dependents that live on "winnins'" are voters too. This is argument enough. Let the gambler be licensed, and let the names of the men who shall vote for this public outrage be handed down to posterity. CITIZEN.

That is the doctrine. The men outside the Council who are pushing this measure, and the men in the Council who propose to support it by their votes, must be made to understand that this thing cannot be consummated with the consent of the respectable and law-abiding people of Los Angeles. The Council cannot pass an ordinance licensing gambling without their action being closely noted, and we believe severely condemned, by at least nine-tenths of our people, embracing the entire body of citizens who give character, respectability and honor to the community.

Will the members of the Council take the fearful risk of doing this bad thing?

THE gambling fraternity who, to the dishonor of Sacramento be it said, were permitted to succeed so well in that city—having secured the legalizing of their "profession"—are spreading out into other towns of the State, hoping to meet with like success in them. We quote from the Stockton Mail to show the pretensions of these gentry as exhibited in that city, and the effective manner in which the Mail disposes of some of them:

One of the so-called visiting gamblers said yesterday that if he had been here a week ahead of the time he could have secured the influence of the press of Stockton in favor of unbridled gambling during Fair week. "For," said he, "there is not an honest man in the world." This is perhaps the experience of the fellow in question, which is a very strong argument against unrestricted gambling. The result of association no doubt brings every gambler to the conviction that there are no honest men anywhere. No doubt every petty larceny thief entertains the same pessimistic view of humanity. We know of but one instance in which a gambler undertook to bribe a newspaper, and that occurred in the Mail office within the past year. He will do us a favor and enlighten certain of the visiting gamblers as to the venality of the Stockton press if he will tell them just how his proposition was received. It is perhaps natural for a fourth-rate gambler to imagine every one else as corrupt as himself, but it is possible to prove to an occasional member of the fraternity that the imagination is entirely fallacious.

We could, were we disposed, name at least one other newspaper which is quite ready to have persons of the gambling, as well as some other pursuits, tell what they know about the result of attempts to bribe, frighten or cajole the conductors of the paper into favoring corrupt and criminal practices, either by direct advocacy or by silence.

THE veteran Democratic editor of the Oakland Independent, has this to say of the State Central Committee of his own party:

No one who knew the make-up of the committee, had the remotest idea that they would echo the sentiments of the Democratic party of the State. Before the committee was called to meet, the Independent asserted that they could not be trusted and had reason to believe that a majority of them were under railroad influence, and their action has proved the truth of our assertion.

THE HORN OF PLENTY.

The crops, taking the country over, are good this year, vast improvements are going on, labor is abundant, prices for labor and its products are remunerative, and the country is prosperous. The United States has produced a great surplus to sell abroad, after supplying the wants of its own people as those of no other nation on earth are supplied. We shall have corn and cotton, wheat, oats, rye, barley and hay to sell—millions of bushels, millions of tons, and millions of bales—probably 7,000,000 bales of cotton—all together worth a mint of money. These products make the country rich. Their shipment and sale abroad in great quantities brings about that healthy balance of trade in our favor which gives us commercial solidity, and puts our merchants in a position to enable them to sustain the shock of financial reverses, should such reverses come.

In all this prosperity California shares. We are short in some of our crops, but on the whole it has been a good year. The farms, orchards and vineyards of the State have produced incalculably, and our surplus is immense. Our surplus of grain for shipment abroad, to feed the pauper principalities and the effete monarchies of the Old World, and dissipate the necessity of "assisted emigration" to our shores, is enough to load fleets of merchant ships. We are a great people and this is a great country.

THE Western Union Telegraph Company earned last year $19,554,902, and made a net profit of $7,660,349. As one-half this profit would be a fair interest on the investment of the capital, it is clear that telegraphic tolls might be reduced to half the present rates. The company had better think of this before a public sentiment is aroused that will compel a still greater reduction.

THE World, of New York, is of opinion that if the Alta California, under its proposed new management, "is to be converted into a derrick to lift Judge Field into prominence as a candidate for President, it will be necessary to pay particular attention to the blocks and tackle." There is a Mephistophelian level-headedness about this opinion which is characteristic of the World, the flesh and the Old Harry.

THE suggestion to make General Phil Sheridan the Republican candidate for President is treated as something more than a joke. It has evoked many expressions of approval. But Sheridan will soon be General of the Army, and it "stands to reason" that a soldier of his tastes and education would rather be General than President.

Getting a Good Ready On.

From the San Francisco Exchange.]

The Examiner denies this morning that there is a split in the Democratic party. It says:

"To constitute party dissension there must be weight and influence on both sides. The question at issue must be of a character to enlist the active support of important elements in the party."

And it adds, "In the contest which the Examiner is waging these conditions do not exist." We beg to differ from our Democratic contemporary. There is just at this moment the biggest sort of a family quarrel in the Democratic party, and there is weight and influence on both sides. Both wings will have their organs, and we look forward with the keenest delight to a most lively interchange of hot shot, grape, shrapnell, and railroad iron, mud, bricks and cobblestones. The County Committee wing, the side opposed to the Hearst following, has now towed that venerable craft, the Alta, into dry dock, and will fit her out with a most formidable armament. Her guns will be of the latest pattern, bowchasers, turret guns, and broadside batteries. No expense is to be spared to make her a crusher in every sense of the word. And all this requires weight and influence for weight and influence means money, good hard American dollars, and plenty of them.

As soon then as the Alta is fitted up and her ammunition taken aboard the Examiner must steam out and meet her. This is where the fun will begin. We can imagine Admiral Hearst clinging to the shrouds, and shrieking through the decds of his 48,000 acre ranch, rolled trumpet fashion, "Run her aboard, lads; cheerily, men, with those batteries; give her another broadside; sink her, damn her, sink her." It will be rare sport to see the Alta receive the Examiner fire, while the rifle-men on the tops endeavor to pick Admiral Hearst off the main shrouds, and the Call and Chronicle cruise around in the neighborhood of the engagement in a gallant attempt to rescue the wounded subscribers, and pick up the surviving ads.

While yet the action is pending, we advise the commanders of both forces to be careful in the selection of their crews. No lubbers will do in this fight. Let them draft all the incapacities to the offices of the religious journals, and send any decayed "Chiva" who may now be on the pay list to the lying-in hospital in Missouri. It will be the best circus this town has seen for years. And yet the Examiner protests that there is no dissension in the Democratic party!

A German View of the Democracy.

From the Chicago Freie Press, Dem.]

The Democratic party cannot stand prosperity. It has had a series of successes, not owing to its own merits, but on account of faults committed by the Republicans. When a party seeks to govern the country it must be competent to govern it—that is, it must agree upon a programme and on some leading principles. But we have repeatedly seen that the Democrats are all at sea in their attitude toward monopolies, the tariff, civil service reform, the liquor question and all other matters which demand settlement; and that wherever the Democratic party gets rule it has given no evidence of its capacity to govern. It has shown, on the other hand, that it is, if possible, less fitted than the Republican party. Up to the present time success has not made it stronger, but weaker.

For the Citizen who Sneezes.

From the Boston Transcript.]

Relief from the torture of hay fever may be found, it is said, in applications of salt water to the eyes, throat and the remainder of the person. A solution of camphor and borax is recommended for the eyes, with mutton broth for a beverage instead of whisky.

With Open Arms.

From the Kansas City Journal.]

Langtry it said, has been received with open arms by the Prince of Wales. A careful search through the cablegrams shows that Langtry is the 335th pretty woman who has been received by His Highness in the past year with open arms. Albert Edward should give his arms a rest.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR should come to Bodie while he is in California. The Eastern man who would have his feet in the placid waters of the Pacific without visiting Bodie, would go to France and never think of visiting Paris.—[Bodie Miner.

YUMA.

Sketch of the Hot and Historic Town on the Colorado.

The Yuma Indians and Cognate Tribes of Apaches—The Apache Idea of a Man—Location and Description.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES]

TUCSON, September 19.—I said that Yuma is worthy of a letter by itself, so here it is. The name comes from the branch of the Apaches who have from everlasting resided in this section. The Yumas are one of the eight tribes of the Apaches. The word Apache signifies a man. With that supreme pride of ancestry and achievements over their neighbors that were converted to a semi-Christianity, preached by the pioneer Spanish missionaries, they appropriated the sole title of manhood. Those Indians who embraced the pseudo forms of Christianity were styled Papagoes, that is, children or servants of the Papa or Pope. The Apache-Yumas and the Apache-Mojaves and a portion of the Apache-Tontos speak the same language. The balance of the Apaches speak an entirely different tongue. Whether the geographical locations of the tribes have anything to do with it or not is a suggestion. The Yumas and Mojaves live principally along the Colorado river. The others live in the rugged fastnesses of the many spurs of the Rocky mountains in eastern Arizona and western New Mexico. The Tontos pass between them both. This may be why the Tontos speak both languages. Those who know say that the Chinese railroad employees readily converse with the Yumas. This is a fact that shows that the difference between the Yuma and Chinese languages is slight. Such is the case also with many of the Digger tribes of central California.

The town of Yuma is situated on the east bank of the Colorado river, on the Arizona side, and a little ways below the mouth of the Gila river. For years Yuma has been celebrated for its heat, but other places are known to excel it. For about four months, from May to September, the heat ranges daily at 112 degrees Fahrenheit. The remainder of the year the climate is genial. In the winter an overcoat is comfortable at all times. At the Needles and Phœnix the mercury runs many degrees higher. In Phœnix it frequently stands at 120 degrees, and at the Needles has been seen notching 120 degrees. So Yuma, henceforth, takes a back-seat on the heat question, and the soldier sends elsewhere for his blankets. The climate is always dry, and said to be good for consumptives and rheumatics.

The town consists of about 1500 inhabitants, of whom about 200 are Americans and foreigners, and the balance are Mexicans. The town was laid out by Americans, and hence the streets are broad, and cross each other at right angles. The town-site is in a flat between two small ranges of hills. The flat extends from the Colorado river back to the Gila river, and may have been anciently the latter's bed. The houses, with few exceptions, are built of mud, commonly called adobe. The walls average three feet thick, making them cool inside. Those who can afford it have double roofs, that is a false roof about two feet above the regular one. I noticed that in all the houses I entered the rooms were large, airy, and, though in the heat of summer, were comfortably cool. Many of the rooms have but a dirt floor packed down hard, and which, if not elegant, are cool, and comfort is first to be thought of here. Some few houses are built of brick, stone or wood, and some are mere willow huts, woven much the same as those of the ancient Britons. The town was built in the first railroad days.

On the train halting at the railroad hotel, and taking a hasty meal, I sallied out to take in the town. To my unacclimated frame the heat seemed to have assumed a corporeality, and appeared dense enough to be blocked out and shipped to the Yukon. Walking out on the sandy streets, not one out of its 1500 population was visible. Only a burro cropping some cactus was to be seen. I soon found the Sentinel office, managed by a Mr. Bancroft. A few minutes' pleasant interview found him deeply interested in his business. Back of the postoffice was the office of the Advance (now defunct.) It was being published by H. L. St. Ormand, who was at that time secretary of the Territorial board of prison commissioners, and a few days later decamped with several hundred dollars of public money. Before leaving, however, he thoughtfully sent in his resignation. At the time of my visit he and his wife were doing all the office work. They were amateurs at the trade, and mentioned with gratitude the fact that a Los Angeles printer, on his return from the East, had showed them that type must be on its "feet," and the ink evenly distributed, to make a good "impression." The printer in Yuma labors under disadvantages, for no "roller" can be made sufficiently hard to resist the heat any length of time. The latter also causes the ink to spread out very thin. The only way to do is to keep the ink keg packed in ice.

Accompanied by Mr. St. Ormand, I visited the Territorial prison. It is situated on a hill just north of town, overlooking the Colorado river. To the northwest is the curiously-shaped and gigantic Chimney Peak. It looks as if its sides were perpendicular for thousands of feet, surmounted by a smaller cone rising from its flat summit. I could obtain no information about it. A brief acquaintance only was made with the officers, as the train gave a departing signal. Bidding them a hasty adieu, I ran a quarter of a mile across that sand flat with mercury at 112 degrees in the shade, and several degrees higher in the sun, and caught the train. I was rather "warm in the collar" when I sat down in the car.

The town has several stores that do quite a business with the agricultural settlements up and down the river, and with the mining districts near by. How its Mexican population exist is a mystery. The Indians are Uncle Sam's wards.

As the train leaves Yuma a few garden patches are seen, mostly cultivated by Chinamen. Near sun-down we halt at Gila City. It was a town of 4,000 in 1857. Some placers were discovered. A town sprang up. The Jew was present with his pack. The Yankee, Chinese, Irish, German, Scotch and Mexican were all digging the dust. The piano and long tom struck harmonious notes. The billiard room, the variety actress, the keno and faro kings, were all there. The placers gave out and the mushroom city disappeared quicker than it came. There is not even a trace of it now except in the worked-over placers. Two gentlemen who came upon the train from Yuma, and got off there, said there are yet good mines in that vicinity.

AT AUCTION,

SATURDAY.

SATURDAY.....SEPTEMBER 29, 1883,

At 12 o'clock noon.

At Auction Mart of G. W. Melone,

COURTHOUSE SQUARE, STOCKTON,

We Will Sell on a Liberal Credit,

8,000 Acres Choice Farming Land,

Oasis Ranch, or Round Timber,

Four miles south of Clements, on the San Joaquin and Sierra Nevada Railroad, about 18 miles northeast of STOCKTON.

Will be Sold in Parcels to Suit Buyers.

The land is some of the best agricultural land in the State, in a belt of country ALWAYS SURE OF CROP.

The soil is of varied character, sandy loam, brown and red loam, and red gravelly loam, with a rata of clay underlying the whole country. Summer fallowing, or twice plowing, insures a large crop and a certain one in the dryest years.

There is comparatively no waste land on the farm, and no trace of alkali. White ant live oaks are scattered over the tract. Every inch of land is tillable. There is no failure of crop in this section, and in 1877, a dry year throughout the State, a fine, full crop was grown on this ranch. Six inches or rain will insure crop. No rust troubles the grain.

An underlying strata of pure water is found free from alkali or deleterious matter. Numerous living springs are scattered over the ranch. Four domestic purposes wells have been bored, and windmill and horse-power are utilized.

Rainfall Always Sure. No Failure of Crops.

The climate is even and equitible, and during the summer months the regular trade wind makes it delightful. The nights are cool and pleasant.

The land is about 300 feet above sea level, and fruit trees and vines do not suffer from frost.

Several parcels in this ranch are fenced and have other improvements, as will be seen by reference to the "Field Notes" and Map inside this Catalogue.

Land is now renting for cash rent from $1.50 for virgin soil to $4 per acre, and for one-third of the crop for the season.

The average production is 20 to 30 bushels of wheat per acre.

We confidently invite the attention of Capitalists, Farmers and all buyers to this attractive offering of first class lands. The easy payments, the low rate of interest and taxes (the owners paying the mortgage tax), its accessibility by railroad and tide water, its great productiveness, its intrinsic value for certainty of producing, make this land valuable beyond all question.

This is a rare opportunity to secure a farm or make an investment that must rapidly enhance in value, on very easy terms of payment.

Parties going to Clements on the railroad running from Lodi to the Sierra Nevadas, will find ample arrangements for viewing the lands.

TITLE ABSOLUTELY PERFECT.

TERMS—One-fourth cash; balance in three years; interest, 8 per cent.

The city of Devil's Lake, Dakota known to the postal authorities as Creelburg, is not yet one hundred days old, but already choice lots in it are sold as high as $2,000 apiece. It has seven large hotels, two banks, two papers and many shops and factories. It is situated on Devil's Lake and owing to its many natural attractions, is known as the "Saratoga of Dakota." The "oldest inhabitants" are already beginning to tell stories of the infancy of the town.

Fifty-four Forty or Fight.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: Yesterday's Herald says: "It was way back under the administration of Polk * that the United States issued the celebrated formula, as respects the northern boundary of the United States, of 'fifty-four forty or fight.' The boundary was simply quietly conceded by John Bull." This is not the first time this season that the Herald has made ignorant reference to the glory won by the Democracy in the fifty-four forty business. But let the Herald consult a United States History primer and get a cheap map of the Pacific Coast States and Territories, and it will find that the northern boundary of the United States is forty-nine degrees, for when he heard the Democratic formula, the British lion had growled and the fighting warcry of the ferocious Democracy had died in its throat, and the valorous Polk, and Buchanan, his Secretary of State, had mildly remarked, "we won't insist." That was in a Democratic administration, the Herald says. It reminds me of a little story. Some years ago a lawyer not long arrived from the States found himself in a Justice's Court trying a case, the opposing counsel being the late Colonel Kewen, who had considerable reputation as a fire-eater. Some proceeding of Kewen's so disgusted the new lawyer that he remarked that "No gentleman would do such a thing." Like a flash Kewen sprang up, thundering forth "No man who says that lives!" and towering above the astonished and bulky tenderfoot, his wrath seemed so devouring as to draw forth the reply, "Oh, if you object to the remark, I withdraw it." So when Buchanan heard the angry growl of the British lion his knees trembled as they did when he heard the angry threats of the perjured traitors who infested Washington fifteen years later, and he meekly said, "If you object to this 'Fifty-four forty or fight' cry, we withdraw it. If you won't let us have Vancouver's Island, it's all right. We'll take whatever you'll let us have. If you will give us to forty-nine degrees we'll accept it with thanks," said the valorous Democratic Polk and Buchanan. "Besides," said Buchanan, "I belong to a Quaker State, where they have conscientious scruples against fighting. Still, my scruples are not unreasonable, and while I think it wicked to fight with sturdy England, my pious conscience sees nothing wrong in fighting England's sickly little brother-nation, Mexico." So we had inglorious peace with England and inglorious war with Mexico. And it is probable that England's insolent manner toward the United States in 1861 was caused by the contempt inspired by the miserable backdown of the braggart Democracy in 1845 and '46. But bluster and backdown are characteristic of Democracy. Watterson says they have abandoned every principle they ever had but free trade, and they are backing down from that.

WHIG.

Two Gentlemen of Verona.

O, that our fathers would applaud our loves
To seal our happiness with their consent!
—[Protens and Valentine.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: No better evidence of the genius of Shakespeare need be furnished than the above comedy, which stands as a master-piece of composition, unrivaled in any language at any period of the world's history.

Without modern models or the light of modern science, this comedy marks with emphasis the prevision of the author as little less than the prophecy of old, which was the result of inspiration, direct from the Deity himself.

Prophetic or historic parallels are instructive to the student of modern thought, in their analysis of the springs and motives of men of different periods, to determine their actions upon contemporaneous subjects then agitating the public mind.

As one approaches the contemplation of such a subject, he is apt to associate the achievements of men in science, literature or politics with a large age, rather than to men of less renown in the very walks of his daily life.

It is those of the later period on which we propose to put our glass—upon two gentlemen, not of Verona, but of Los Angeles county plain and simple.

In the Herald of this city, not long since, there appeared as a "happy conjuncture" the manifestoes of two gentlemen of Verona—one from the rural districts representing the lusty Proteus, who, on the word of the other, would, if urged, undertake the high and honorable duty of representing the State, and especially Southern California, in the United States Senate! While the other, in the character of a Sir Valentine, under the folds of whose ample cloak not necessarily a Duke of Milan, but any ordinary observer, might find a rope's ladder, with anchored hooks, where with to scale the Congressional ramparts of this district.

'Fore God, friends! it these things be true, and the power of prayer is yet preserved to the good and faithful, let invocations long and devout be immediately made to save this district and State from a "conjuncture" so dire and calamitous as these things portend!

CRUSADER.

Zach Montgomery.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: Where is that old ecclesiastical crank, Zach Montgomery? Who is flooding the town with his pamphlets in favor of a "parental" education?

Do the people of this State, and aye of the world, wish to relegate their children and country back to the dark age of ignorance and crime, of which Spain is such a bright example of his "parental system," where in a population of 16,000,000 over 12,000,000 can neither read nor write?

Let our people consider this question, so earnestly pushed by him, backed by certain religious propaganda.

The large telegraph mast with eight foot arms, obstructing First street between Spring and Fort, seems to rest quietly, although it is apparent to every man, woman and child who passes that way that it should be removed to some place where it would not be quite so much in the way, or set upright, so it would not take so much room, and where it might be of some practical utility. When our people need every available foot of room on the business streets, such obstructions should not be allowed to remain over night.

THE YELLOW PLAGUE.

Can it Gain a Foothold in California?

A representative of the TIMES, meeting Dr. J. P Widney yesterday, requested his opinion as to the possibility of the yellow fever gaining a foothold in California, owing to our close connection with Mexican cities by rail. The Doctor, who is a member of the State Board of Health, replied to the query as follows: "I do not think it probable, or even possible, that the yellow fever will ever break out on the Pacific coast as far north as California. In the first place, our cool nights are not at all favorable to the development of the fever germs; and, in the second place, any contagious matter coming by rail from Mexican cities will have to pass through the dry, hot air of the desert, which in itself is a powerful disinfectant. Again it is by no means proven that a person having the yellow fever can communicate the disease to another person. Yellow fever depends upon a peculiar condition of the atmosphere, and in this respect resembles malaria. A whole neighborhood may be stricken with fever and ague, yet a person leaving the malarious district will not convey the disease to others. It is true that the germs of the fever may be dangerous when shipped in goods from the infected districts, but California has little to fear from this source. No case of fever could be developed in this city from persons coming from Mexico, as the disease works too rapidly, and long before they could arrive here they would be down with the disease, if infected. I apprehend no danger from yellow fever in this climate, but shall be prepared to act if any emergency occurs."

A YELLOW-FEVER VICTIM.

News reached town yesterday of the death from yellow fever of Mr. A. Barnett, of the commission firm of Barnett & Block, Hermosillo, Mexico. Mr. Barnett was well known by many residents of Los Angeles, as in time gone by he was a frequent visitor here. His untimely death will be regretted by all who knew him.

WOMEN WORKERS.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of Southern California.

In the report made for yesterday's TIMES of Thursday's proceedings of the W. C. T. U. Convention, allusion should have been made to the most excellently conceived and expressed and admirably read essay of Mrs. P. W. Dorsey, on "The Work of the Church in relation to Temperance." The paper of Mrs. Dr. Follansbee on "Alcohol and its effects on the human system" was largely scientific and fortified with quotations from the highest and most recent medical writers.

At night a good audience gathered in the Presbyterian church to listen to temperance and prohibition addresses by Revs. J. W. Webb, J. W. Ellis and Mrs. Leavitt—the latter expatiating on "The Justice, Expediency and Scripturalness of Woman's sharing in the Government of the Country."

Yesterday morning the Convention held its closing session, Mrs. W. D. Gould presiding. The annual membership fee was decided at not less than $1.00, half of it to go to the State fund and one-fifth of the latter sum to the National Treasury.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Miss Hathaway; Vice Presidents, Mrs. Foster of Orange, for Los Angeles County; Mrs. J. Fulton, for San Bernardino County; and Mrs. Milo Sawyer, for Santa Barbara County; Secretary, Miss Miller; Treasurer, Mrs. P. W. Dorsey.

Resolutions were passed declaring entire dependence on God for success; pledging endeavor to enlist all churches and individuals to pray and work in the cause; giving especial attention to the young in day and Sabbath schools, and bands of hope, &c.; to try and secure the instructing of students in our normal school in the physiological effects of alcohol, that they might be able to teach it in public schools they will afterwards take charge of; to work for prohibition by statute and constitutional amendment, helping to elect to the legislature men so pledged, and to defeat all other candidates for law makers; to petition Congress to prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages in the District of Columbia, the Territories and military and naval stations, and to submit to State Legislatures a prohibitory amendment to the Constitution of the United States; endorsing the Prohibition Home Protection Party of this State so long as it stands for prohibition, the enfranchisement of woman, and nominates God-fearing temperance men for all offices; to spread knowledge on the subject of alcoholic medical prescriptions and the use of fermented wine for sacramental purposes; to diffuse information showing the advantage of making raisins rather than wine from grapes. The citizens were also publicly thanked for their hospitality to delegates and visitors, the Presbyterians for the use of their church, Mrs. Leavitt for her valuable services, and Mrs. W. D. Gould, retiring President, for her zeal and incessant labors. The following is believed to be a complete list of delegates attending:

Los Angeles—Mrs. L. C. More, Mrs. Milton Lindley, Miss Hathaway, Mrs. Dorsey and Miss Miller.

A HOT DAY.

The Thermometer Registers 105 Degrees in the Shade.

Yesterday was the warmest day of the season, and one of the warmest days which Los Angeles has experienced for many years. The morning opened with a violent east wind, evidently blowing in directly from the desert. This furnace-blast soon sent the mercury up at a pace which would do credit to Arizona; and a little before noon, in many portions of the city, it registered 105 degrees in the shade. The wind added to the disagreeable features of the day by gathering up the dust and spreading it in clouds over the city, and in the direction of the mountains and in Santa Ana valley a terrible sand-storm seemed to be raging. Although the heat was very oppressive, no report of any serious injury to either life or health in consequence has reached this city. In New York such heat as we experienced yesterday would cause almost numberless sun-strokes, but it is a peculiarity of this climate that a degree of heat which would be fatal to many in the Eastern States will not seriously affect those who are exposed to it here. Some fruit will undoubtedly be injured by this hot blast, but raisin-makers will undoubtedly rejoice at the prospect of speedily completing their work.

Lost Boy.

Johnny McDonald, a barefooted boy of 7½ years, strayed from his home last evening in company with some playmates, and was taken in charge by the police, who treated him kindly. His parents came to this city from Denver, about four days ago, and the boy has been going to school two days, but does not know the school. He can be found at the police office.

The saloon of George Ulrick, the Comet, was robbed yesterday morning, and about the same hour Morris' restaurant was taken in. Only a small amount was got at both places.

WHALES OFF WILLMORE.

Two Whales Killed After an Exciting Struggle—A Hot Fight.

The summer season at Willmore has been a modestly quiet and pleasant one, furnishing the average amount of pleasure to those who sought its shores, and bringing its quantum of fish stories to the surface at regular intervals, so as to keep pace with the other more ambitious seaside resorts near Los Angeles. But however infantile its aspirations may have appeared in contrast with the pretensions of its rivals, it closes its season with a fish story that completely relegates into utter insignificance the wondrous tales that have heretofore been chronicled of the famous Smith Fishing Club, composed of Arizona federal and Los Angeles county officials. While the summer has expired at other places with a lamb-like wail, Willmore has reserved all its energies to the last, and its first season goes out with a lion-like roar, amid a blubber of glory.

About a week ago, Mr. Peter Warner, the well known contractor, and a veteran fisherman started out on a fishing excursion in a small boat. They carried with them a Winchester rifle and a shot-gun, in order to possibly bag some of the game that abounds in the laguna, which extends some three miles inland from the shore, and from whence it is necessary to embark. They had rowed out but a few miles, when two whales, of the bottled-nosed species, were espied a short distance from the boat. Mr. Warner immediately grasped his rifle, fired, and apparently wounded one of them. Infuriated, the monsters lashed the water into foam, and made desperate efforts to reach them. After a second and third shot, a vital spot in one of them was reached, and only one was left to combat with. He then began firing at the remaining one, but though wounding it several times, it seemed utterly impossible to seriously disable it. It made the most furious attacks upon them, and with distended jaws, it seemed at times as if about to engulf boat and all. Twelve shots were fired into it, and still it continued its onslaughts. It slashed and foamed, spending heavy spray in all directions, and nothing but the most skillful management kept the boat at a safe distance from its fury. Now and then it would plunge under the water, endeavoring to get under the boat and send it skyward, but the steady "old salt" managed each time to whirl the boat beyond its reach. The situation was growing serious, as the cartridges in the rifle were exhausted, and it seemed well nigh impossible to reload while the monster was making such furious attacks. While attempting it, a sudden onslaught of the whale made it necessary to use the shotgun, and Mr. Warner fired hastily, discharging both loads right into the face of the monster. It was a most fortunate shot as it took effect in the eyes of the whale, and must have totally blinded it. The pain served to increase its ferocity, but its efforts were now futile, and it was an easy matter to row a safe distance, when the rifle was reloaded, and the beast killed at leisure.

The two whales were then towed in shore, and quite a large quantity of oil has been since tried out. The truth of the story is vouched for by many reliable witnesses, and Mr. Warner, who has had considerable experience hunting lions and tigers in India, states that it was the most exciting half hour he ever spent in his life.

From Wilmington and Long Shore.

Correspondence of the TIMES.]

WILMINGTON, CAL., Sept. 19, 1883.—The weather the past two weeks has been as fine as the most fastidious could wish,—neither too hot nor too cold, but just splendid.

Willmore is, without doubt, the best bathing place on the coast. The beach is not near so fine or smooth as at Santa Cruz, Monterey or Santa Barbara; but the ocean "swells" or breakers are so very gentle, and a total absence of undertow, makes it so the most timid are entirely safe. The accommodations at the place are not as good as the public has a right to expect. But next year "Willmore" is to be the "Long Branch" of the Pacific coast.

Mr. A. W. Hall, of your city, has settled down on the beach at San Pedro. He thinks he is permanently recovering from his accident, which took place some three months ago near Downey. Mr. Ward, of your burg, was here a few days last week. He, Gen. John R. Bigerly, and others were out fishing besides having the usual good luck, getting "wet," they caught some very fine fish in the yacht "Custom House."

The Wilmington brass band have rehearsals now about twice a week, and the boys produce some very creditable music.

All the houses here are occupied, or no houses to let—notwithstanding quite a number from here have moved to San Pedro, the town is very prosperous, and constantly on the increase.

The Holiness Band, from Downey, are expected the latter part of this week or as soon as camp meeting breaks up. There is certainly a field, here, for much labor. The harvest is great, while the laborers appear to be few.

CUPID.

The Valla Block.

Additional force has been put on this fine building to hasten its completion or get it in shape for a pavilion in time for the fair. The imposing iron front and lofty stories; in such striking contrast with its immediate neighbors, makes it an attractive feature of this long-neglected part of the city.

Immense Baggage Business.
